

- >The project aims to develop an AI model that converts sign language into a speech that can be understood by normal people.
- >The technology is developing day by day but no significant developments are undertaken for betterment of these people .
- >The project aims to develop a system that converts the sign language into human hearing voice in the desired language to convey a message to normal people.